DAMVAD ANALYTICS

Data scientist

DAMVAD Analytics is constantly looking for data scientists. You are either an experienced or recently graduated data specialist. You thrive in inventing and delivering the most innovative solutions in order to maximise value for clients. You are hungry for delivering outstanding results through outstanding performance.

In this role, you will be working with team members to build datasets, reports and predictive models for clients in different countries. You will collaborate with team members with different backgrounds – econometrics, social sciences, scientometrics and more.

Key Responsibilities

- Ability to write complex queries to extract data from multiple databases and ensuring system-to-system integration
- Manipulation and cleaning data with the tool(s) of your choice
- Custom data pulls and analyses for clients & reports within tight deadlines
- QA all of your own work in addition to reviewing team members' work
- Document your work in a way that is reproducible & easily understandable by others
- Building interactive dashboard solutions
- Collaborating with colleagues with other backgrounds in performing the most innovative predictive analytics
- Knowledge sharing with other teammates
- Bringing in new orders together with your team mates

Required Experience and Qualifications

- Independently manage data requirements via querying, extracting and analyzing informtion from databases
- One or more big analytics qualifications - building machine learning models, natural language processing, elastic search, or others
- Good linguistic and inter-cultural skills
- 1+ years of experience working with large data sets (internships ok)
- Problem-solving capabilities and superior analytics skills
- MA, preferably with a concentration in Computer Science, Mathematics, Finance, Economics, Statistics or another quantitative discipline

What you are looking for in your career – and what we offer

- An office full of talented, mission-driven people
- The chance to use your powers to do something that truly matters
- Being involved with a once-in-a-generation company, at the cutting edge
- Entrepreneurial mindset
- Fluently speaking and writing English, as well as a Scandinavian language

If you have an acute sense for what it takes to think strategically and comercially AND get into the details, you are highly analytical and are able to get at the root of every problem in order to solve it, and you want to have fun when solving the most complex challenging problems for clients, then you belong here.
