

Business anthropology/ethnography consultant

Position

A predictive analytics revolution is unfolding before our eyes. We are part of it. We want to combine the best and most innovative techniques from predictive analytics and data science with a deep qualitative insights into behavior and human motivation.

DAMVAD Analytics is an internationally recognized predictive analytics consultancy. We offer our clients a leading edge fueled by advanced data and predictive analytics. We believe in delivering solid predictive results combined with an understanding of what and why.

We are looking for an insights-consultant mastering the most advanced qualitative methodologies from the social sciences. The position is based in the heart of Copenhagen overlooking the Harbour.

Responsibilities

You will be responsible conducting projects along with your colleagues in order to deliver high-value data-driven solutions and innovations based on structured and unstructured data. Projects within different sectors such as education sector, scientific research funding, financial sector, life science energy etc. Projects are delivered in several countries. You should contribute to client project proposals and engagements. You will contribute to designing and executing our qualitative insights offerings and linking them with quantitative analytics.

Requirements

You should have exceptional commercial skills or exceptional qualitative methodological skills

- ✓ Either a recent graduate with exceptional results, or 3-5 years experience with a proven commercial track record from management, strategy or innovation consultancy
- ✓ MA or beyond e.g. from anthropology, ethnography, sociology or similar
- ✓ Previous experience with deep insights qualitative methodology
- ✓ Curiosity, open to feed back and a will to succeed and win as a team
- ✓ Excellent communication skills, international language skills and a focus on and attention to detail
- ✓ Strong presentation skills and ability to tell a compelling story combining big and thick data
- ✓ Sector insight in e.g. education, life sciences, financial sector, infrastructure etc. could be an advantage but is not a necessity

We offer

- ✓ An attractive salary package
- ✓ An office full of talented colleagues
- ✓ A Nordic and international client base
- ✓ Entrepreneurial mindset
- ✓ A non-hierarchy organisation

For more information please contact:

Kristian Mørk Puggaard

Managing Partner

Telephone (direct) +45 4082 4861

Send applications to job@damvad.com