

Management consultant with unique strategy competence

Position

We experience growth in all our analytical and data driven business areas. More and more of our clients need help to design and implement strategies based on the analytical results data and recommendations we provide. Therefore, we are looking for an experienced colleague who can lead our strategy efforts with a unique position in the market bridging our high-value data-driven solutions and innovations with winning strategies for our clients.

DAMVAD Analytics is an internationally recognized economics and data science consultancy. We base our services on econometric & predictive models and deep qualitative insights about human behavior.

Your role will be to engage in key client relationships across our business areas and work with our data scientists and economists to drive engagements that result in great strategies and impact. The position is based in the heart of Copenhagen overlooking the Harbor.

Responsibilities

You will be responsible for:

- Guiding strategic decision processes at corporate level
- Driving one or more business areas depending on your sector insights.
- Facilitating client strategy processes providing value to data-driven solutions and innovations
- Taking responsibility for our clients' use of analytical processes that provide insight and give strategic options.

Requirements

- ✓ 5-6 years of relevant experience from management or strategic consulting
- ✓ Industry experience, ideally in life science, energy, energy or the financial sector
- ✓ Experience building relationships and generating engagements with decision makers
- ✓ Experience from industry and/or the public sector
- ✓ Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- ✓ Strong presentation skills and ability to tell a compelling story using data
- ✓ Excellent people leadership - mentoring and developing teams

We offer

- Responsibilities
- An attractive salary package
- An office full of talented colleagues
- A Nordic and international client base
- Entrepreneurial mindset
- A non-hierarchy organization
- For the successful candidate this position has a unique opportunity to have business area responsibility and partner potential

For more information, or to apply for the position, please do not hesitate to contact:

Kristian Mørk Puggaard

Managing Partner

E- mail: kmp@damvad.com

Telephone (direct) +45 4082 4861

Deadline: As soon as possible.